

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use important information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you have long days at work or at school?
- What do you like to do to relax at the end of the day?
- What advice would you give to a friend who is stressed out?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about healthy habits at work and customer service.
- I can offer advice and solutions.
- I can persuade someone to change his or her mind.

Let's Explore!

Sally and Vanessa unwind after a long day at work.

* To "unwind" means to relax after a tiring day at work.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Look at the articles I'm going to have to write next week! They're so interesting!
- Vanessa: I'm glad you're having fun at work! I had to deal with angry patrons and miscommunication problems.
- Sally: That's why you look so tired! You really need to be more thick-skinned, dear!
- Vanessa: You know how the service industry works! Sometimes my clients are so difficult!
- Sally: Yeah ... I'm sure you'd rather deal with reasonable people all the time! What happened?
- Vanessa: Oh, nothing ... Someone was rude to my floor staff, another customer refused to put his phone on silent mode ... Just a regular day at the restaurant!
- Sally: You sound like you need some time off. You should try to keep a healthy work-life balance! Happy customers would make your job much easier, don't you think?
- Vanessa: I suppose you're right. What do you think I should do?
- Sally: You might want to offer complimentary drinks as soon as you hear something wrong. Everybody likes free stuff!

Let's Practice!

Sally is very persuasive!

Instructions: Read the sentences. Select the correct answers. Using the correct answers to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

1. Which sentences persuade Vanesa to change her mind?
 - a. What happened?
 - b. What do you think I should do?
 - c. Happy customers would make you job easier, don't you think?
 - d. I suppose you're right.
 - e. You might want to offer complimentary drinks.
 - f. I'm glad you're having fun at work!
 - g. I'm sure you'd rather deal with reasonable people!
 - h. You sound like you need some time off.

Let's Practice!

Sally is working on those people skills!

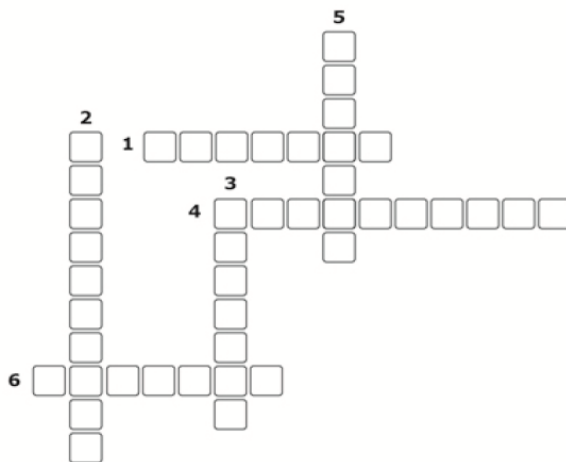

Instructions: Read the clues. Complete the crossword. Write the words to complete the sentences.

Down

2. Someone was rude to my _____.
3. You know how the _____ industry works!
5. You really need to be more thick-_____, dear!

Across

1. I had to deal with angry _____.
4. Another customer refused to put his phone on _____.
6. You should try to keep a healthy _____.

Extension Activity

A day in the life of...

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Choose a person to interview. It could be a friend, a family member, or somebody you know.
- Ask them about their job. Is it stressful? Do they work long hours? Where do they work?
- What do they do to de-stress at the end of the day?
- Write a short presentation (10 to 12 lines) about the person.
- Share your presentation with a friend.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I talk about healthy habits at work.

☐ ☐

I describe a person's work.

☐ ☐

I write a presentation about a person I know.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- patron (noun): a customer at a restaurant or store
e.g. Your loud conversation is bothering other patrons.
- floor staff (noun): employees who work in a restaurant, setting and cleaning tables
e.g. We train our floor staff to deal with difficult customers.
- complimentary (adjective): at no additional cost
e.g. Please enjoy a complimentary dessert.
- silent mode (expression): a setting on electronic devices that disables ringtones and alarms
Example: Please put your phones on silent mode.
- reasonable (adjective): fair and sensible
Example: Thanks for the advice. It sounds reasonable.
- service industry (noun): business that provides services or specialized work for customers
e.g. We work in the service industry and we ought to treat our clients with care.
- miscommunication (noun): failure to communicate adequately e.g. I hope he doesn't write a complaint about our miscommunication problem.
- thick-skinned (adjective): insensitive to criticism or insults e.g. You need to be more thick-skinned!
- work-life balance (noun): the importance you put on work compared to other things, like family and friends
e.g. It's important to keep a healthy work-life balance.

Learning Points

Offering Advice and Solutions

When you work in a restaurant or in a shop, it is important to offer advice and solutions properly.

Remember to offer advice politely and to use the modals could, should or might to propose a solution.

Here is a list of expressions you can use to offer advice and solutions:

- You might want to ...
- Would you mind ... ?
- You should ...
- You ought to ... (strong request)

Offering Advice	Responding Politely
• You might want to ... • Would you mind ... ? • You should ... • You ought to ... (strong request) • ... don't you think?	• I understand, but ... • I'm afraid not • I apologize, but ... • Here's what I think you could do • That sounds reasonable

Examples:

- Ann: I had to deal with angry patrons yesterday.
- Bob: You really need to be more thick-skinned, dear!
- Ann: I suppose you're right.

Learning Points

Being Persuasive

When you work in a restaurant or a shop, it is important to be persuasive to be able to change a customer's mind about something.

Remember to be polite and use appropriate expressions to persuade someone.

You use expressions like Don't you think ... ? or Don't you agree ... ? to convince or persuade someone to change their minds.

You use expressions like You sound like ... and use modals like should, ought to or would rather to suggest what is necessary.

Examples:

• Ann: Sometimes my clients are so difficult!

Bob: I know, but happy customers would make your job easier, don't you think?

