Let's Start!

It's hard to keep calm at work all the time!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use important information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations

Ask your partner:

- How would you describe your personality? Are you outgoing? Shy? Nervous? Relaxed?
- How do you react when something stresses you out?

Can Do Statements

- I can deal with non-standard requests and refuse politely.
- I can offer advice and solutions.
- I can describe behavior and personality.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is not her usual self. Can Sally offer some good advice?

* You are "not your usual self" when you behave differently from your personality.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: What's wrong, Vanessa? You're acting all weird!
- Vanessa: I know, I'm not my usual self. I had to deal with an arrogant customer yesterday.
- Sally: You shouldn't let it get to you so easily.
- Vanessa: I tried! You know how patient I usually am, but I can't stand it when someone is rude to my staff.
- Sally: I understand, but you know what they say: The customer is always right! Even when they are obnoxious and behave badly! You might want to keep that in mind.
- Vanessa: Working as a manager is so stressful! I'm much more relaxed in the kitchen!
- Sally: Here's what I think you could do. Why don't you put a sign at the entrance? Something that says "We kindly request that you keep your phones on silent mode and that you take urgent calls in the foyer". You also ought to talk to your staff about how to handle these kinds of situations.
- Vanessa: Hmm ... that sounds reasonable. Thanks for the advice!
- Sally: No problem. Conflict resolution is my speciality!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Offering Advice and Solutions

When you work in a restaurant or in a shop, it is important to offer advice and solutions properly.

Remember to offer advice politely and to use the modals could, should or might to propose a solution.

Here is a list of expressions you can use to offer advice and solutions:

- You might want to ...
- Would you mind ... ?
- You should ...
- You ought to ...

Offering Advice	Responding Politely
• You might want to ... • Would you mind ... ? • You should ... • You ought to ... (strong request) • ... don't you think?	• I understand, but ... • I'm afraid not • I apologize, but ... • Here's what I think you could do • That sounds reasonable

Examples:

- Ann: I had to deal with a rude customer yesterday.
- Bob: You ought to talk to your staff about this kind of situation, don't you think?
- Ann: That sounds reasonable. Thanks for the advice!

Learning Points

Describing Behavior and Personality

You use adjectives and expressions to describe a person's personality and behavior.

You describe personality when you say how a person usually is. It is true most of the time. You use the verb to be + adjectives.

You describe behavior when you say what a person does or how a person is at a particular time. You use the verb to be + adjectives or expressions like you were acting ... or you behaved + adverb.

Adjectives of Personality	Expressions of Behavior
calm patient rude arrogant relaxed obnoxious	You're acting ... You're ... today You were ... yesterday I/you/he behaved ... + adverb

Examples:

- Ann: You're acting all weird. What's wrong?
- Bob: I had to deal with an arrogant customer yesterday.
- Ann: Keep calm! You're usually very patient.
